before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The African Manufacturing Firm: An Analysis Based on Firm Studies in Sub-Saharan Africa (Routledge Studies in Development Economics):

The African manufacturing sector continues to face many problems as it struggles to progress from its presently underdeveloped state. If the countries that make up Africa are ever to raise the living standards of the vast majority of its population to a more acceptable level, then the economic growth that would result from an enlarged and improved manufacturing sector may hold an important key. The book provides a useful source of greater understanding of African manufacturing firms and the perplexing lack of widespread industrial growth during the post-colonial decades. The comprehensive coverage includes such themes as: the size and distribution of firms in Africa entrepreneurship, labour and the regulatory and business environments in Africa *the dynamic problem of growth and investment of firms Any reader wanting to understand the economic problems of Africa will need to read this book, and any student, academic or policy-maker working in the areas of development and industrial economics will find it to be a most useful guide.

...these authors cover the size and distribution of African firms and discuss entrepreneurship, labor, the regulatory business environment, and the problems of underdevelopment. ndash; Business Horizons, July-August 2004 About the Author Dipak Mazumdar is Professor at the Centre for International Studies, University of Toronto, Canada.
